TALK OF THE TOWN

See Abbott's line of dresses.
Lewis B. Glidden and twin sons are Mrs. W. S. Miller has resumed her duties as a clerk in the office of the D. M. Miles Coal Co.

John Del Monti of Quincy, Mass., is in the city, having been called here by the illness of relatives.

The condition of Alderman Henry Alexander of Branch street, who has been quite seriously ill, is somewhat improved. Dr. J. H. Woodruff of Keith avenue is able to be out of doors, after having been detained at home by illness for several days.

Private Tony Charley of Camp Devens is passing a furlough at his home here, having been summoned home by the death of relatives.

Seaman Edward Lambert, who is stationed in Boston, returned to his assignment yesterday, after passing a furlough at his home on Summer street.

Private Charles Colombo, who has been at home on a furlough of five days, returned yesterday to Gettysburg, Pa., where he is stationed at Camp Colt.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman of South Barre are the parents of a son born Thursday, Oct. 3. The child lived but a few hours, and funeral services were followed by interment in Hope cemetery.

The Quarry Savings Bank & Trust Co. has a supply of the fourth Liberty loan coupon bonds, which can be delivered to subscribers where subscription is paid for in full—adv.

Private David Morgan of Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., who accompanied the body of Private Ralph Lecasse to this city, is ill at the home of his brother, Alex. Morgan of Kirk street.

Mrs. Mary Wylie, who has been employed at Hotel Barre, left to-day for Burlington, where she is to be employed as a cook at a hotel. She was accompanied by her daughter, Dorothy.

Mrs. Carrie Rossi, who was called here by the serious illness and death of her brother, Paul Bianchi of Summer street, went back to Waterbury yesterday to remain with her husband, who is seriously ill.

A. C. Jones, of the livery firm of Jones & Nye, suffered a painful accident yesterday, when he slipped and fell from the top of a horse, fracturing his right shoulder out of joint. The mishap occurred in a simple manner, and while the shoulder causes him considerable pain, Mr. Jones does not expect to be detained from duty long.

Lisle Burnham of Springfield, who was formerly employed in Barre as a barber, called on friends in the city yesterday, while on his way home after having been called to Williamstown by the illness of his sister. Mr. Burnham states that the influenza is endemic in Springfield and other towns in that section.

Miss Lena Croce is suffering from painful burns at her home on Brook street. This morning while building a fire she tried to hasten matters by the use of kerosene and the flames flashed up into her face, badly burning her there and about the arms. The physician who dressed the burns was of the opinion that time would bring about a complete recovery.

An epidemic which a contemporary description indicates was similar to that now existing visited Barre in 1811, according to data dug up by a local man, who has been renewing his acquaintance with some of the early gazetteers of Vermont. The symptoms described by the gazetteer conform very closely to those observed to-day. Barre was not a hotbed of the malady, but the town was severely afflicted, and in those days people referred to it as the black fever.

George Murray, until a few months ago the local manager for the Sullivan Machinery Co., was seriously injured in Claremont, N. H., Saturday, according to word received here yesterday. The young man was employed in the plant of the Sullivan Machinery Co., and in the accident, details of which were not received, he suffered a fractured nose and painful injuries to his back. Mr. Murray was at the head of the local order of Red Men when he left the city, and officers of the tribe are endeavoring to ascertain further particulars.

Goddard seminary students and their principal have been very much to the fore in relief work during the epidemic, and while a considerable number of the student body inevitably resulted from illness, classes have been held regularly for the out-of-town students who remain on the hill. With most of the customary activities under way, Prin. O. K. Hollister has still found time to minister to the sick, and in this direction he has been very successful. Moreover, when an emergency call came for helpers at the City hospital, the way was opened for volunteering among the students at the school, and a sufficient number responded at once.

Trolley, motor and other vehicular traffic between Barre and Montpelier was seriously disrupted yesterday after the heavy downpour of the morning, a gorge having been dug by the water in the highway just south of Dewey park. The heavy storm of the forenoon allowed a night of steady rain, and a small opening in the road near Jerome's crossing grew so rapidly that before noon it was impossible to effect a detour. The hole was 14 feet wide and attained a depth of 10 feet. It undermined the street car tracks, so that passengers had to be transferred. Barre got the short end of the deal, for all of the main line cars were on the north side of the "portage," but the Washington street car, which remained on the main line all day, sufficed for all needs. Teams and automobiles were diverted around the East Montpelier road, so called. Here in Barre the effects of the storm were numerous, although the damage was not great. The temporary foot-bridge over Gunner brook at Blackwell street sunk out of sight, and the swollen stream carried away a part of the city's supply of lumber.

VERMONT CASUALTIES IN SEPT.

There Were More Pneumonia Deaths Than Killed in Action.

Col. H. T. Johnson has compiled the figures showing the casualties among Vermont men since Sept. 1, which is very interesting, in that it shows that the largest death loss has been from pneumonia, which exceeds that of those killed in action, but it is nearly as great as the total number of wounded in action. There have been 15 killed in action, 37 died of pneumonia, 47 wounded in action, 4 died of wounds.
